

THIS WEEK @ OAKFIELD

Week 1 – 15th September 2019

Welcome Back

We would like to welcome all learners back following a restful summer holiday. All learners returned looking spectacular in their school uniforms. We hope all of our new learners have enjoyed their first full week with us at Oakfield. It appears everyone have settled in well already, especially with the major changes that have taken place around the building over the summer.

Uniform

Can we kindly remind all parents and carers to write learners names in all of their uniform, including PE kit, coats, bags and other belongings. There has already been a number of incidents with items going missing or being misplaced. Having names on belongings ensures we can pass any missing items found back to their owners. Thank you for your support.

Break time Tuck

At Oakfield there is a Tuck at Break time were students can purchase food and drinks. Can you ensure that your child has appropriate money with them if they wish to purchase anything from Tuck.

Special Mention

We would like to congratulate two of our teachers, Mr Ennion and Miss Ford, who got married over the summer. Miss Ford will now be known as Mrs Ennion. This may be confusing for some learners as she is still down as Miss Ford on their timetables.

School Photographer

On Wednesday 18th September, the school photographer will be coming into school to take all school and college learners' annual photographs.

Can you please ensure that learners attend school looking their best in their full school uniform. Parents will have the opportunity to purchase the photographs in a few weeks.

Macmillan Coffee Morning

We are pleased to announce that we will be holding a Macmillan Coffee Morning on Friday 27th September. The doors will open between 9:30am - 12:00pm.

There will be a variety of cakes, treats and drinks available to purchase on the day with all proceeds raised going towards the charity. Everybody is welcome. We are hoping to see as many faces as last year.
